

Tired of shrugging off shoulder pain?

We can help with that! The surgeons of Knox Orthopaedics offer a range of arthroscopic shoulder procedures done in an outpatient setting, that help relieve chronic shoulder pain and increase the stability of your shoulder joint. Rotator cuff tears, chronic impingement or bone spurs, biceps tendonitis or chronic instability are all conditions that can be treated successfully with arthroscopic procedures, often in our Mountain Home Surgery Center. Give us a call today to schedule your evaluation and get on the road to recovery.
